

Company Profile

☆ Greetings from CEO

There is something that has always been moving and making people feel warm inside. It gives us courage and joy. It is a “deep impression”, a precious feeling that directly leads us to dreams and hopes. Impression is the best source of energy to motivate people.

Since its establishment in 1960 as a music talent agency, HoriPro has constantly strived to create number one and unique content and develop a range of businesses throughout the entertainment world under the corporate philosophy of “Human industry that promotes culture” while keeping pace with the public, through good and bad times.

However, the entertainment market in Japan has recently come to a crossroads. Further large-scale expansion of the domestic market will be difficult, due to the declining birthrate, aging population and falling economic growth rate.

Consumers now enjoy entertainment content through more diverse forms of communication such as Internet distribution and expanding mobile communication including mobile smartphones. Social media has also attracted attention as a new form of information infrastructure. It is imperative to take actions for new media.

Under such circumstances, to open up new markets and continue growing, we believe we must accelerate growth and enhance competitiveness by eyeing promising markets widely, at home and abroad, and aggressively promoting content and artists.

We must also constantly seek to expand our business in new regions and fields and find businesses that can underpin the next generation, by measures such as expanding into other growing countries in Asia, expanding and improving our Internet content and participating in the anime market.

Since its establishment, our company has always responded appropriately to the changing needs of society and people over time. As a comprehensive entertainment company that provides courage and hope to Japan and the world, we will achieve our individual business goals and boost the future of Japan and international society by creating unique and high-quality entertainment.

President & CEO Yoshitaka Hori

☆ Our Business

| Artist Management Divisions

From discovering and developing next-generation stars to managing various talents

Having always produced stars who symbolize the times, HoriPro has a long and successful track record when it comes to discovering and developing talents, as exemplified by the “HoriPro Scout Caravan”, started in 1976. Leveraging such experience and achievements, we engage in management activities, aiming to discover hidden raw talents and polish to glow as jewels. With talents who can accommodate various needs, including actors and actresses, singers, variety talents, comedians and idols, we engage in strategic promotional activities through media, including TV, radio, movies, stages, magazines and the Internet.

| Visual Contents Division

Creating high-quality video content compatible with various media

Exploiting its diverse talents, experienced staff create wide-ranging high-quality video content. The Visual Content Division is involved in everything from planning to production of various video content, including commercial messages, in which HoriPro boasts four decades of experience, TV dramas, variety programs and movies.

We also actively create content with the overseas expansion of the Internet and smartphone distribution in mind.

| Live Entertainment Division

Providing a wealth of entertainment productions that attract global attention

We provide various entertainment productions from classics to new productions, by planning and producing theatrical performances and musicals and putting on performances. Broadway Musical PETER PAN that started in 1981 starring Ikue Sakakibara, has since been staged every summer.

We have also produced popular straight plays, including SHINTOKU MARU, THE MIRACLE WORKER, and MUSASHI, and musicals including SWEENEY TODD, JEKYLL AND HYDE, ROMEO AND JULIET (French musical), THRILL ME and LOVE NEVER DIE. Having also invited large-scale Broadway musicals such as the PRODUCERS, HAIRSPRAY and a South African performance, DRUM STRUCK, we have established ourselves as a major stage production company in Japan. Overseas, we have successfully launched Yukio Ninagawa’s productions including MACBETH, CORIOLANUS and CYMBELINE in London and New York. We also produced KING LEAR jointly with the Royal Shakespeare Company. All these experiences helped enhance our international recognition.

| Sports & Culture Division

Supporting wide-ranging activities involving athletes and intellectuals

We provide multifaceted support to notable figures from intellectual and sports worlds in fields including media exposure, publishing, etc. Focusing primarily on management to enhance the image of critics, writers, scholars, medical doctors, journalists and other intellectuals in their areas of expertise while contributing to their main business, we engage in cultural activities to promote connections between corporations and people and among people themselves through media coverage and events.

Our basic policy for active professional athletes is to create an environment where they can concentrate on playing while we deal with the media, etc. We also engage in management activities to expand the post-retirement scope.

☆ Our Business

| Music Division

Providing music that will be loved throughout the ages

We aim to produce high-quality music that defies the boundaries of music genres or major/indie labels. We provide all music planning and production activities, from production of music masters for artists to production of soundtracks and planning of live events. With experience in producing many hits and the ability to plan with the future in mind, we will provide music that will be loved for generations.

We will also manage and promote copyright and masters and explore how best to use copyright by digitizing analog masters and music distribution.

To participate in the animation business, we manage and develop voice actors/actresses and anime song singers with “Next-Generation Voice Actor/Actress Audition” as part of the ‘HoriPro Talent Scout Caravan.’

In the license business, we manage various characters and artists’ works and hold exhibitions. We are also engaged in merchandizing, such as planning and producing talent goods, which involves optimally exploiting our strength of managing many talents.

| Direct Communication Division

Developing new business on the Internet

To deal with diversified media, we create content for movie sites such as Nico Nico Douga and YouTube, manage fan clubs to sell goods featuring our talents and artists, send their latest updates, and engage in an advertising business through Internet blogs, etc. We also aggressively create original DVDs featuring athletes and idols other than our talents and focus on producing content for Internet distribution, expanding smart-phone and other types of mobile communication, and developing new information infrastructures, e.g. social media.

| Corporate Affairs Division & Corporate Planning Division

Widely support the whole HoriPro Group

In addition to promoting artists with strategic thinking and engages in PR activities for programs and works of our talents, the Corporate Affairs Division establishes an environment for smooth and efficient management and operation of HoriPro, who manages various businesses, from perspectives such as contract management, facility operations and information systems.

The Corporate Planning Division underpins the management strategies of the HoriPro Group by promoting activities to develop wide-ranging human resources and international projects for the next generation as well as providing timely information for business management.
